ABSTRACT

The 1980-81 costs of tuition, required fees, and room and board at state and land-grant universities are examined, with two-year comparisons presented for median undergraduate charges and median graduate and professional studies charges. Fifteen-year trends of median charges for undergraduate tuition and fees (1965-80) are presented along with ranges for 1980-81 undergraduate charges, highest and lowest charges for 1980-81 undergraduate tuition and fees, and full-time undergraduate charges for 1980-81 by institution and state. Regional comparisons of 1980-81 median undergraduate tuition and fees are also considered. Among the findings are the following: (1) resident dentistry led graduate and professional tuition hikes; (2) 25 campuses held the line on tuition compared to 49 last year; (3) the trend in ranges of charges reflects inflation; (4) the long-term median tuition rise outstripped the rise in the Higher Education Price Index; and (5) the median total undergraduate charges rose less in 11 years than the Higher Education Price Index. Campuses that raised tuition and those that did not are identified along with the actual resident tuition and fees of the highest- and lowest-charging institutions. (SW)

For regional comparison, the states were divided as follows:

NEW ENGLAND	Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont
MIDDLE ATLANTIC	Delaware, District of Columbia, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania
SOUTHEAST	Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Puerto Rico, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Virgin Islands, West Virginia
MIDWEST	Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Wisconsin
WEST	Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Guam, Hawaii, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Oregon, Texas, Utah, Washington, Wyoming

RESIDENT DENTISTRY LEADS GRADUATE & PROFESSIONAL TUITION HIKES — Of all graduate and professional students at at NASULGC institutions, resident dentistry students sustained the greatest median tuition increase in 1980-81, with a whopping 22.4 percent jump over last year.

Resident law students and non-resident medical students are paying the same median tuition and fees as they did last year.

All other median increases at comparable reporting graduate and professional schools were less than ten percent. All median tuition charges for 1980-81 at these campuses continued to be at least $1,000, with the exception of charges for resident graduate students and resident law students.

Table 3 gives complete information on median charges at comparable reporting graduate and professional schools for 1980-81 and 1979-80, and the amount and percentage of change.

25 CAMPUSES HELD THE LINE ON TUITION COMPARED TO 49 LAST YEAR

Twenty-five campuses did not raise resident undergraduate tuition and fees in 1980-81, compared to 49 in 1979-80. The following 25 campuses did not increase resident undergraduate tuition and fees this year:

U. of Alabama, University
U. of Alabama at Birmingham
U. of Alabama, Huntsville
University of Florida
University of South Florida
U. of Hawaii, Manoa
Iowa State University
University of Iowa

Texas Southern University
University of Texas, El Paso
University of Washington
Washington State University

Thirty-four campuses did not raise non-resident undergraduate tuition and fees in 1980-81, compared to 44 in 1979-80. The following 34 campuses did not increase non-resident undergraduate tuition and fees this year:

U. of Alabama, University
U. of Alabama at Birmingham
U. of Alabama, Huntsville
University of South Florida
Iowa State University

Five campuses held the line this year by not raising total charges (tuition, fees, room and board) for resident undergraduates. They were: the University of Alabama at University, the University of Hawaii at Hilo, Montana State University, the University of Texas at El Paso, and Washington State University. (In 1979-80 two campuses held the line on total charges, compared to 24 campuses in 1978-79, 32 in 1977-78, and 15 in 1976-77.)

INFLATION REFLECTED IN TREND OF RANGES OF CHARGES

Thirty-one campuses had charges of $1,000 and more for resident undergraduate tuition and fees, compared to 24 in 1979-80 and 15 in 1978-79. The number of campuses charging less than $400 fell from eleven in both 1978-79 and 1979-80 to eight in 1980-81.

This year for the first time the number of campuses charging in the $700 to $999 range slipped to less than half of the total number of respondents.

The number of campuses that charge non-resident students less than $1,000 dropped from seven in 1979-80 to three in 1980-81. At the other end of the scale, the number of campuses that charge non-resident undergraduates more than $3,400 rose from six in 1979-80 to ten in 1980-81.

Table 4 gives the ranges and number of campuses in each range for undergraduate tuition and fees in 1980-81.

The number of campuses in each range for total undergraduate charges also shows the degree to which inflation has affected student charges. Twenty-seven campuses charge resident undergraduates $3,000 and above in 1980-81 for tuition, fees, room and board, whereas in 1979-80 only ten campuses charged $3,000 and above. In 1979-80, two campuses charged $1,399 or less, while in 1980-81 the lowest total charge was in the $1,700 to $1,799 range.

Total charges for non-resident undergraduates in 1980-81 reveal the same trend. In 1980-81, thirty-four campuses charge non-residents $4,700 and above for tuition, fees, room and board, compared to 18 campuses in 1979-80. The lowest range for non-resident total charges in 1980-81 was $2,200 to $2,999 (two campuses), whereas in 1979-80 there were four campuses that charged less than $2,200. Table 5 gives the ranges of total charges and the number of campuses in each range for 1980-81.

LONG-TERM MEDIAN TUITION RISE OUTSTRIPS RISE IN HIGHER EDUCATION PRICE INDEX

The National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges has surveyed its member institutions about tuition and fees since 1965. From 1965-66 to 1980-81, median charges for resident undergraduate tuition and fees have risen 166.9 percent, from $311 to $830. During the same 15-year period, the Higher Education Price Index rose 163.3 percent. (The Higher Education Price Index was developed by D. Kent Halstead, Research Economist at the National Institute of Education, and indexes the prices that colleges and universities pay for goods and services. The base year is 1967, which equals 100.)

Median charges for non-resident undergraduate tuition and fees rose from $734 in 1965 to $2,040 in 1980, an increase of $1,306 or 177.9 percent. In sum, the long-term median tuition at state and land-grant universities has risen 3.6 percent more than the Higher Education Price Index during the past 15 years for residents and 14.6 percent for non-residents. This means that state and land-grant universities have had to look increasingly to tuition and fees for revenue, as the real income from other sources has been depleted by inflation.

Table 6 shows median charges for undergraduate tuition and fees since 1965 and the dollar and percentage increases for each academic year. The number of respondents supplying data for Table 6 varies from year to year, and therefore the respondents are not a directly comparable group of campuses.

MEDIAN TOTAL UNDERGRADUATE CHARGES RISE LESS IN 11 YEARS THAN HIGHER EDUCATION PRICE INDEX

The National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges began to monitor total undergraduate charges--tuition, fees, room and board--in 1969. From 1969 to 1980, median total charges for resident undergraduates rose from $1,297 to $2,542, a jump of 96 percent. Median total charges for non-residents increased from $1,910 to $3,828 during the same 11-year period, a hike of 100.4 percent. The Higher Education Price Index rose 110.5 percent during this 11-year period.

Table 7 shows median total undergraduate charges since 1969 and the dollar and percentage increases for each academic year. The number of respondents supplying data for Table 7 varies from year to year, and therefore the respondents are not a directly comparable group of campuses.
